Conversion Classes

This program helps students identify their thoughts, beliefs and attitudes which led them to steal. The program will help them to understand the social and financial impact of their behavior and understand how their actions hurt many people – their families, themselves, and the community at large. The student will develop a personalized plan to stop stealing now and in the future. Restitution from the referrals source may apply and restorative justice models will be utilized. Classes will begin 1/22/18.
